gain of one for Overstreet and three for Fuller. The ballot was:
Overstreet
Several delegates heard a dinner tocsin and wanted to adjourn, but the conven- tion emphatically sat down on the sugges- tion.
The fourth ballot brought out a new candidate from Bartholomew, Silas A. Hayes, but he received only three votes. Morgan veered a bit and increased Case's vote. The ballot stood:
Overstreet55
Case
Leather-lung sounds went up after this ballot, friends of all the candidates sending to dominate the pandemonium. The fifth ballot was not different from the fourth, save that Overstreet and Case each gained one, Fuller losing two. It seemed that a deadlock was on the stocks. The sixth bal- lot:
Overstreet60
Fuller
Beem
On the seventh ballot Owen county dropped its candidate, Captain Beem, and split its vote between the three leaders. This wave Mr. Overstreet the lead with 64 votes.
gave Mr. Overstreet the lead with 64 votes, Fuller 57, Case 47, and Hayes 1. Then there was some more pandemonium, which ended in somebody started up "Marching through Georgia." in which the delegates joined.
On the eighth ballot the only change was a gain of three for Case and a loss of four from Fuller's strength.
Mr. Case began to loom up prominently on the ninth ballot. Hendricks throwing him her strength, to which Morgan added. The ballot stood:
Case
Hayes 1
Mr. Overstreet immediately regained his lead on the next ballot, coming within fifteen votes of the coveted nomination. The tenth ballot:
Overstreet
Fuller
WHERE OVERSINEEL WON.

The name of Fuller was withdrawn after Brown county was called on the eleventh ballot, Mr. Overstreet having gained seven votes in Bartholomew. It took five minutes to call the convention to order, so lusty were the Overstreet and Case shouts. It was evident somebody had to be nominated on this ballot. Cries went up for Nat U. Hill, of Monroe county, but that entleman jumped up and refused to be come a candidate. Monroe county, however, cast its twenty votes for Mr. Hill. A gain of one vote for Mr. Overstreet from Owen county nominated him, Brown county wanted a chance to get in the Overstreet band wagon, but the Chair ruled that a county could not change the vote after it had been cast. The vote of the eleventh ballot on which Mr. Overstreet was nominated was as follows: Case ......57

Fuller ...... 6 Hill ......20 Messrs. Case, Beem and Fuller made short and cordial speeches indorsing the motion to make Mr. Overstreet's nomina-tion unanimous. Captain Beem explained his candidacy. He did not know his friends intended to propose his name and protest-ed that his name should not go before the convention. Some of his friends, however, voted for him against his wish. The defeated candidates enthusiastically declared that they would be in the front rank in the fight which would elect Mr. Overstreet. There were hundreds of cries for Mr. Overstreet and he mounted the stage and spoke. He felt that it was an honor in-deed to be nominated by such a large, such a representative and enthusiastic conention. He called attention to the needs of the hour. "This is not so much a year for huzzas as a fight for our homes," he said. "The same old Republican party comes before the people again with the same old principles—the principles that stand for protection to our industries, to our workingmen and to our homes." After speaking briefly on the need of solld financial basis for the country, and of the need of industrial reform, Mr. Overstreet concluded amid much applause. Mr. Case also spoke, referring pathetically, with a faded war-time letter as a text, to the insults offered the old soldiers by n Putnam county. At 2 o'clock the convention adjourned. MR. OVERSTREET'S RECORD. Mr. Overstreet, who is expected to be elected Congressman next fall to succeed George W. Cooper in the Fifth district. was born Dec. 14, 1859, in Franklin, Johnson county, where he now resides. He is the son of ex-State Senator Overstreet. He attended the Franklin schools and Franklin College, where he graduated with the degree of master of arts. He read law in the office of Overstreet & Hunter, in Franklin, and has been constantly in this office with the exception of two years he served as chief deputy for United States Marshal Dunlap. Two years ago Mr. Hunter, of the law firm, died and Mr. Overstreet succeeded him. He has been in politics since 1884, serving on the city, county, congressional and State committees. He was president of the Blaine Republican Club in 1884. During the last two years he has been committeeman from the Fifth congressional district. Despite the Democratic landslide of 1892 Mr. Overstreet's district showed a gain of ninety-two Republican votes for the head of the ticket over that of 1888. He was the first to organize the Republicans of Brown county and so thoroughly did he do this that the vote showed only a variance of fourteen from the poll taken before the election. Mr. Overstreet has been very strong as an organizer and is justly popular. He is a clean man and possesses unusual ability for a young man. He is unmarried. This is the first canvass he has ever made for office. The Fifth district was carried by Congressman Cooper two years ago by 1.688 plurality, the Republicans having steadily cut down the majority in recent years.

Joint Senatorial Nominees. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARTINSVILLE, Ind., May 10 .- After the adjournment of the congressional convention here to-day the delegates from the joint Senatorial district of Brown, Monroe and Bartholemew met in the opera house to nominate a candidate for Representative. Hon. H. C. Duncan, who made the race for Congress in the Fifth district some years ago, was nominated by acclamation. He is a prominent lawyer of Bloomington.

Dr. J. M. Banta, of Martinsville, was chosen as the senatorial candidate for the Morgan and Johnson district.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT. Major Steele, of Marion, Nominated on the Fifty-Eighth Ballot.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. HARTFORD CITY, Ind., May 10 .- The next Congressman from the Eleventh Indiana district will be Major George W. Steele, of Marion. This verdict was reached at 8:30 o'clock this evening, after the most remarkable convention ever held in the district, lasting seven hours and a half and extending over fifty-eight ballots. The convention was held in a small grove, two blocks from the public square. Here in a clump of hickory trees was erected a stand with seats sufficient for the accommodation of the delegates. The choice allotted to the delegates was roped about and outside of the ropes gathered the friends of the candidates and spectators from three to four thousand in number. The convention was called at 1 o'clock by George A. Osborn, chairman of the district committee. The convention stood while the Rev. J. W. Fulton, of this city, invoked the divine blessing. The report of the committee on rules and organization was presented by J. W. Eward. The report recommended Hon, J. J. Todd, of Bluffton, for chairman; Calvin Cowgill, of Wabash, vice chairman, and Sherman King, of Wabash, for secretary. The orators presenting the names of candidates were limited to five-minute speeches and in other respects it was recommended that the rules of the recent Republican convention should govern. The report of the committee was adopted and Mr. Todd was introduced. He addressed the convention briefly, expressing his thanks for the honor conferred. He predicted the election of the candidate whom the convention should nominate; referred in eloquent terms to the Republic-an leaders, past and present, and declar-ing that the convention had met for business not for speech-making, asked for the report of the committee on resolutions.

THE PLATFORM. The platform was read by H. P. Loveland, of Peru. It declares adherence to the platform adopted by the Republican State convention, and especially the plank regarding silver and the tariff plank. The platform condemns the course of the present Congressman of this district in voting and working for the overthrow of manufacturing industries and the paralyzation of the business of the country. It says: "We condemn him for his ungrateful, un-manly and unpatriotic attitude toward the defenders of this government, and we congratulate this people on the approach of the time when they are to be represented in Congress by a man whose vote and voice will be in favor of kindling the fires in our factories and not for their extinction; when they shall be represented by a man with sufficient regard for his district to heed the demands of its vast agricultural and manufacturing in the sufficient regard for his district to heed the facturing interests.

"We congratulate them on the approach of the time when they shall be represented by a man and a party prompted by reason and not by passion, by intelligence and not prejudice, by statesmanship and not tradi-tion."

The oratorical part came next. M. E. Beal presented the name of R. S. Peterson, of Adams county. The Steele boom from Grant was launched by Hon. Hiram Brownlee. J. B. Kenner, of Huntington, was placed before the convention by W. H. Frammel, and Charles H. Good, of the same county, by Adam Faust. The venerable John Peter Clever Shanks did the right thing by candidate Frank Snyder, of Jay, and the fine points of Capt. W. F. Daly, of Miami, were portrayed by the majestic young orator, James F. Stutesman. The first ballot was watched with intense interest. Adams coun-The oratorical part came next. M. E. Beal watched with intense interest. Adams county gave her 12 votes to Peterson, Blackford gave each of the six candidates 2 votes, 1 vote in Grant slipped away to Dr. Good, but the other 48 were given to Major Steele. Huntington gave 16 votes to Good and 18 to Kenner. Jay's 24 votes went to Snyder, and Miami's 30 to Daly. Wabash county divided her votes, giving each candidate 61/2, and Wells gave each 25-6. The totals were Daly ......41 On the second ballot the counties with no candidates voted their real preferences.

Blackford gave Steele 2 and Good 10. Wabash gave Steele 21, Good 7, Kenner 4, Daly
5, and Wells gave Steele 3, Good 9 and Peterson 5, the totals being as follows:

The third ballot showed no indications of the break that was expected to come not later than the fifth ballot. In this ballot Steele gained a vote and so did Good, and totals of the others were not materially changed.

DEADLOCK THREATENED. The fourth, fifth and sixth ballots showed nothing more significant than the loss of a couple of votes to both Steele and Good. The tenth ballot showed no sign of weakening on the part of any candidate, and when the twentieth ballot showed no material change it began to look like a deadlock. The dark horses began to make a showing in the eighteenth ballot, when Wabash county gave a vote to Hiram Brownlee. On the nineteenth ballot Brownize got one and Todd, the chairman of the convention, received four from Wells, but the dark-horse business did not meet with favor at this stage, and there was no flurry when scattering shots were fired later for Cant-well, LaFollette, Maddox and Shinn. At the close of the twenty-fifth ballot, which was reached at 4 o'clock, a thunderstorm drove the convention to the opera house. At the end of the forty-second ballot, cast at 6 o'clock, the convention voted down a motion to take a recess until 7 o'clock.

On the fiftleth Steele reached his high-water mark up to that time, with seventy-eight votes, but dropped to seventy-seven on the fifty-first. On the fifty-fourth ballot the Miami county delegation asked leave to retire for consultation. They came back n twenty minutes, withdrew the name of Captain Daly and gave eighteen votes to Major Steele and tweive to Good. The tide had set in favor of Steele and no power could stem it. On the fifty-fifth ballot he received ninety-six votes, on the fifty-sixth ninety-eight, on the fifty-seventh 100 and on the fifty-eighth 119, which was eleven more than necessary to nominate. The final ballot stood as follows: Steple......119

Kenner ...... 12 Good ..... 5 Peterson ...... 2 The result was received with deafening applause. Major Steele briefly expressed his thanks at the honor implied in this, his sixth nomination to Congress, and pladged himself to carry the district by 2,000 mafority. In conclusion he dragged Mrs. Steele, who was on the stage, to the foot-lights, and introduced her as the best woman that ever lived.

ADJOURNED IN A DEADLOCK. Judicial Convention at Rushville Took 814 Ballots.

Special to the Irrlianapolis Journal. RUSHVILLE, Ind., May 10 .- The judicial convention of Rush and Decatur counties, which compose the Eighth judicial district, adjourned this afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock without naming a candidate for judge or prosecuting attorney. The convention had been in session since Wednesday afternoon. The contest for the nomiration for judge was a hot fight, all the delegates standing by their favorites. The candidates were William J. Henley, of Rushville, and Hon. John D. Miller, of Greensburg. Each county had seventeen delegates, and they cast the vote for their respective candidates, and kept on casting them without a split. As a matter of compromise the Rush county delegation voted solid a number of times for the following men: Claude Cambern, Lot D. Guffin, Jas. E. Watson and George W. Campbell. Decatur county never left Miller, but cast her seventeen votes on every ballot for him. In all 814 ballots were taken. After the last ballot. Decatur county failing to secure an adjournment of the convention, withdrew from the convention. An adjournment was taken to meet again at Rushville on Wednesday, June 6.

A dispatch from Greensburg says: Decatur county moved for a secret bailot, and three such were taken, resulting in 18 for Miller, enough to nominate. Rush county challenged the vote, and had its delegation polled, when it came up 17 for Henley Judge Cullen was chairman, and he ruled that Rush county had a right to poll its delegation. Samuel Stewart, of Decatur, said he was opposed to any more "child's play," and this remark fired Frederick Cap, of Rush, who made a hot speech against Decatur county delegates. This precipitated an abrupt termination of the convention, and the Decatur county delegates took the first train for their homes, claiming Judge Miller had been nominated three times. Decatur county made a motion to adjourn to the 14th of June, and named Milroy as the place, it being a half-way station between Rushville and Greensburg, but this proposition was rejected. NO DEARTH OF CANDIDATES.

Republicans Anxious to Run in Allen County. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 10 .- Candidates for the county offices are booming themselves all over the county. Never before in the history of Allen county politics has the canvass for nomination in both political parties been so active. The farmers are visited daily by candidates, and politics have even retarded the planting of corn. The Republican candidates are especially active and the farmers are sur-prised to hear of a Republican actually running for office in Allen county. They are fairly falling over one another to get on the ticket. One Republican candidate has been actively in the race for six months. The farmers are well informed this year and they have heard Republican as well as Democratic argument very extensively. Some radical changes in the political sky are predicted in many of the townships, and many assert that the county will not return a big majority for any candidate this fall.

Joint Representative Named.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. GOSHEN, Ind., May 10.-The Republican convention held at Milford this afternoon for the purpose of nominating a candidate for joint Representative of Elkhart and Kosciusko counties, nominated Hon, W. C. B. Harrison, of this city, on the first bal-lot. He was nominated by two votes over Hon. O. Z. Hubbell, of Eikhart.

Sharsig's Little Army of Ball Tossers Routed at Detroit.

Phillips Hit for a Total of Forty Bases -21 Ruus Scored by the Enemy and 12 by Indianapolis.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

DETROIT, Mich., May 10 .- Pitcher Phillips, of the Indianapolis ball club, fared no better with Detroit to-day than he did with Grand Rapids, where he was smashed right and left. To-day he was hit twenty-three times, for a total of forty bases, including three home-run drives, a three-baser and it numerable doubles and singles. This was one of the reasons why the Hoosiers lost the game. Another reason was the superior fielding of the home team, but Sharsig's men did well, considering the manner in which Phillips's curves were treated. Balsz, for Detroit, pitched winning ball as long as he was in the box, but he retired at the end of the fifth in order to try one Van Giesen, of Madison, Wis., a newcomer, who wants a place in the team. Van Giesen was wild but speedy.

In the first inning Carroll walked to first, and, on Mills's error, Earl reached the initial bag, and the two were brought in on McGuckins's single and Burns's double. On McTammany's walk to first and doubles by Gray and Leidy the score was tied. In the three innings beginning with the third Phillips was knocked everywhere, in and out of the lot, each hit evoking yells from the bleachers. The "Creams" might have been scoring yet but for Gray's magnificent catch of Glenalvin's foul tip right in the bleachers. It was a wonderful catch, and Gray was loudly applauded. By clever hitting in the fifth the Hooslers made two more runs. The remainder were made off Van Glesen's wild pitching, he being touched up for only five hits. In the sixth, with bases full, Everett made a brilliant one-handed stop of Snyder's drive over third. His stop resulted in a double play that retired the side, Cross touching out Gray. Attendance, 700. Score: the bleachers. The "Creams" might have

THE OUTLOOK GLOOMY.

Useful Pitcher-Hustling Needed. Pitcher Phillips is either an exploded 'phenom' or a dissatisfied player who wants his release, probably the latter. Yesterday was his third consecutive exhibition of how not to pitch, and it would be well for Manager Sharsig to lay him off without pay until he can get himself into condition, either mental or physical. The third slaughter in which he has been a conspicuous figure occurred yesterday at Detroit, and a reference to the score is all that is necessary to show what a mark he made of himself and of the Indianapolis

With this cheerless retrospect comes the soothing news that Cincinnati has pulled Cross back into the fold owing to Chamberlain's poor showing in the box. Cross was given his notice of unconditional release, but the ten days not having expired Cincinnati can, of course, haul him back again. The Reds' misfortunes affect Indianapolis to the extent of a much-needed pitcher. With only Manck to rely on Sharsig's men are in bad shape for pitchers. Some quick action is necessary, for to start on that Western trip next week in their present condition means an uninterrupted string of defeats for them. In a letter from Detroit, written Wednesda, Manager Sharsig expresses himself as satisfied that the rearrangement he has made will work all right and soon put the club "near the top where it belongs."
This beautiful fafth is shared by no one here and it will only take a few games to demonstrate its fallacy. The club needs some new material. It is not up to the mark in any respect. The fielding is off, the hitting light as compared to that of the other teams, and when the Western clubs get through with the team, if left in its present shape, it will be so firmly imbedded in the mire that it will be distanced in the race. Both Minneapolis and Mil-waukee have been hustling successfully to strengthen their weak spots and they will be giving the leaders an argument ere long. The former is especially strong since Crooks and Werden were signed. Milwaukee has just secured Pitcher Stephens, from Washington, and if he is as effective now as he has been in the past two seasons he will cut considerable of a figure in the Western League. What the Indianapolis management needs is to "get a move on." Too much time has been wasted and too many players allowed to slip away. While other clubs are picking up good men Indianapolis is rearranging the ones that have nade a sorry showing thus far. It won't do if baseball interest is to be kept alive here. There was a good healthy revival of it in the start, but the club is killing it about as rapidly as possible. It might be well to again call attention to the imperative necessity of a good, hard-fighting captain. Nobody seems to be even making a bluff at occupying that important posi-tion just now. McTammany was a sort of straw captain for awhile, but it appears to be a case of go-as-you-please at present. Gray is mentioned as the probable head of the team. He is a good player and a favorite and may prove a competent captain. While that is to be hoped for, it Highest of all in Leavening Power.- Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

this quality. Still it is not fair to pass judgment on him in that capacity until he has been tried. As a hitter and a fielder he is all right and everybody would like he is all right and everybody would like to see him equally successful as captain.

Indianapolis will play again in Detroit this afternoon and Gayle will probably pitch. The club will arrive home to-morrow morning, play Toledo here in the afternoon, commencing at 3:15, and both teams will go to Toledo for a Sunday game, returning here for contests Monday and Tuesday. Catcher Snyder will be retained, for the present at least, as Connie Murphy's coming is indefinite. He is anxious to redeem himself and Manager Sharsig thinks he will do so.

WILL SHE ACT LIKE DODO? Marriage of Miss Margot Tennant

and Henry Herbert Asquith. LONDON, May 10 .- Mr. Henry Herbert Asquith, Q. C., M. P., Secretary of State for the Home Department, was married today at the fashionable St. George's Church, Hanover square, this city, to Miss Margot Tennant, the young lady who is said to have suggested to the author the titular character in E. F. Benson's. "Dodo," and who was one of the originators of the somewhat mysterious social body known as 'Souls." The ceremony was performed by the Bishop of Rochester, assisted by the Rev. Canon Scott-Holland, of St. Paul's Cathedral, and the Rev. Charles Anderson, rector of St. George's. The bride was attended by eight bridesmaids. Following the precedent of Lady Alington, who was a Miss Leigh, all of the bridesmaids were little children, and not the least interesting of them was Mr. Gladstone's favorite granddaughter, Dorothy Drew, and the bridegroom's daughter. The costumes of the ladies present may be described as magnificent, especially in the cases of Mrs. Tennant, the mother of the bride, Countess Spencer, Lady Hayter, Lady Constance Shaw-Lefever and Lady Randolph Churchill. The best man was Mr. Richard Burdon Haldane, Q. C., M. P. The bride was becomingly attired in dress of rich white satin, trimmed with orange blossoms and venetian point lace. The bride's father, Sir Charles Tennant; conducted the bride to the altar. The Hon. Charles Lister, the seven-year-old son of Lord Ribblesdale, acted as the bride's page. The bride did not carry a bouquet, but instead she had a prayer book in her hand. The costumes of the bridesmalds consisted of pinafore dresses of white accordion, plaited material with chiffon hats of leghorn straw, trimmed with feathers and roses. Each of the little bridesmaids wore A Rearranged Team with Only One groom, and they all carried a spray of Perfect Love." The scene inside the church was one of great richness, the brilliancy of the variety of color being enhanced by the white floral decorations of the edifice. When the service had opened there was a tumultuous cheer from the crowds in the streets about the church, announcing the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone signed the marriage regis-There was general cheering as the bride and bridegroom left the church after the marriage ceremony. After the service there was a brilliant reception at the house of Sir Charles Tennant in Grosvenor square, at which the elite of politics, literature, art and society was present. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Asquith left for Wells Park, Frome, Somersetshire, where the honeymoon will be spent.
